For brevity, the words in parentheses may be chanted in a monotone, or as follows if time allows:

that we may receive the King of all

we may receive the King of all
