Plagal First Mode

* According to the Great Horologion and Athonite typicons, this hymn is chanted on Sunday after the doxology instead of "Today Is Salvation" when the mode of the week is plagal first, plagal second, grave, or plagal fourth.
After Rising from the Tomb

Plagal Second Mode

After rising from the tomb and breaking the bonds of Hades asunder, Thou didst repeal the sentence of death, O Lord, thereby delivering all men from the snares of the enemy. After manifesting Thyself to Thine Apostles, Thou didst send them forth to preach, and through them Thou didst grant peace to the whole world, O Thou Who alone art rich in mercy.

After Rising from the Tomb

Grave Mode

After rising from the tomb and breaking the bonds of Hades asunder, Thou didst repeal the sentence of death, O Lord, thereby delivering all men from the snares of the enemy. After mani-ifesting Thyself to Thine Apostles, Thou didst send them forth to preach,
and through them Thou didst grant peace to the whole world, O Thou Who a-alone art rich in mercy.
After Rising from the Tomb

Plagal Fourth Mode

After rising from the tomb and breaking the bonds of Hades asunder, Thou didst repeal the sentence of death, O Lord, there by delivering all men from the snares of the enemy.

After manifesting Thyself to Thine Apostles, Thou didst send them forth to preach, and through them Thou didst grant peace to the whole world,

O Thou Who alone art rich in mercy.
