Deúte pánta tì ἐθνη

Come, all ye nations, let us worship the blessed Tree, through which was wrought the ever-lasting right-
For he that by a tree beguiled our fore-father Adam, is himself en snared by the Cross; and he that by tyranny gained dominion over the cre-ation of the King, is faith overthrown in utter ruin.

By the Blood of God, the serpent's poison is washed away; and the curse of a just condemnation is loosed by the unjust judgment passed against the Just One. For it was fitting that the wood should be healed... by wood; and that the sufferings of him who was condemned because of the tree should be done away through the passion of Him Who is passionless. But, O Christ our King, glory to thy dread dispensation toward us, where by Thou hast saved us all, since Thou art good and the Friend of man.

"Thou Who wast raised up"

O ύψωθεὶς ἐν τῷ σταυρῷ

Thou Who wast raised up on the Cross of Thine own will,

O Christ our God, dost Thou bestow Thy compassions upon this, Thy new common-wealth named after Thee. Glad-den with Thy sovereign reign might our most Orthodox hierarchs, and vouch-safe them victory over every false teaching; and as Thy help in war may they possess the weapon of peace, the trophy invincible.

forth, and the faithful welcome it with longing,

and they receive healing of soul and body and of every malady. Let us kiss it with joy and fear: with fear, because of sin, for we are unworthy; with joy, because of the salvation granted to the world by Him Who was crucified thereon, Christ the Lord, Who hath great mercy.
