Dogmatic Theotokion*

First Mode

Andante  \( \frac{3}{8} \)

\[
\begin{align*} &\text{D} \\
\text{The universal glory born of men,}
\end{align*}
\]

\[
\begin{align*}
&\text{who hath given birth unto the Master,} \end{align*}
\]

* According to some local traditions, this or the following Dogmatic Theotokion can be chanted as a recessional.
the heavenly gate, let us praise

Mary the Virgin, the song of the bodiless hosts, and the adornment of the faithful. For she was shown to be a Heavnen and a temple of the Godhead; destroying the wall of enmity, she ushered in peace and opened the Kingdom. Possessing, therefore, this anchor of faith,

we have as champion on the Lord

Who was born of her. Take courage, take courage, O ye people doctrine; for He shall fight thine enemies, since He is the Almighty y One.