Tenth Matinal Doxasticon
(eothinon)

Plagal Second Mode

Intonation: #20

Andante \( \frac{3}{8} \)

Δόξα Πατρί

Neh______ Glory to the Fa - ther,______ and______ to the____ Son,______ and to____ the Ho - - - - ly________ Spir - - - -

- - - - - - - - - - - it.

Metά τήν εἰς άδου

After Thy de - scent________ to____ Ha - - - - and Thy Resurrection from the dead, the disciples turned unto their work, since they naturally lost heart at Thy separation from them. Again the ships and the nets, and no draught of fishes whatsoever. But appearing to them, Thou as the Mas Diatonic

Diatonic

Diatonic

Thy word became deed, and then there was a great multitude of fishes and a strange supper read y on the shore.

Tenth Matinal Doxasticon
Count us also worthy now to rejoice spiritually in that which Thy disciples partook of then, O man-befriending Lord.

Continue with the Theotokion in the mode of the week on pages 888-898.